What could be more luscious than a freshly picked juicy peach or a handful of succulent red cherries? Most people anticipate savoring these delicacies, but the botanical artist cannot wait to capture their beauty with watercolors on paper.

Catherine Watters will teach you how to carefully observe your subject focusing on form, light and texture. Then work on composition and wise color selection. After transferring your drawing, get ready to paint and capture the elegant shape, bold colors and textures using proper lighting to make them come to life. Finally, after all of your hard work, you are ready to savor your subject!

Suitable for advanced beginners to advanced artists.
